SECTION – 5 COMPREHENSION

Passage – 1

The first Indian person to go into space was Rakesh Sharma. On 3rd April 1984, Rakesh Sharma rocketed out into space with two other Russian astronauts. Their spacecraft Soyuz T-11 was launched from Baikonur space centre in Russia.

The rocket which launched the spacecraft weighed 300 tonnes. The rocket left behind the earth's gravitational pull within only 8 minutes and 30 seconds.

Rakesh Sharma reported that he could identify India easily from space, because from there, the earth looks very much like its geographical map. He could see the blue oceans that surround the Indian Coastline as also the green land and the snow capped dazzling Himalayas. That is why, when the then Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi asked him how India appeared to him from space, he answered “Sare Jahan se Achchha” the best in the world! Rakesh Sharma completed his space journey and returned to earth on 11 April' 1984 in another spacecraft.
